Administrators' Admonitions

In Matthew 25:40, Jesus teaches us, "Truly, I say to you, as you did it to one of the least of these my brothers, you did it to me." This Bible verse underscores the significance of extending a helping hand to those in need. It serves as a reminder that our actions towards the less fortunate are a reflection of our compassion and love for others, echoing the teachings of Christ, whose birth we celebrate during this upcoming season.

During the Christmas season, it is essential to reflect on the importance of compassion and generosity towards those less fortunate. The holiday spirit is not merely about festive decorations and exchanging gifts, but also about embodying the values of empathy and kindness. In the midst of our celebrations, it is crucial to keep in mind those who may be facing hardships, be it financial struggles, loneliness, or other challenges.

By keeping the less fortunate in our thoughts, prayers, and actions, we contribute to building a more compassionate and caring society. Whether it's donating to charities, volunteering time, or simply offering a kind word to someone in need, these gestures can have a profound impact on the lives of others. The Christmas season, with its emphasis on love and giving, provides a unique opportunity to make a positive difference in the world by reaching out to those who may be struggling and embodying the true spirit of the season.
